Church, School Partnership Builds a Library

Inspiring a Love of Reading

By Tricia Harney

St. Stephen’s Youth Programs (SSYP) and the Blackstone Elementary School kicked off their ninth year of a formal partnership and readers of all ages celebrated their love of books. One of the signature projects of SSYP is the school library, which

Continued on page 2

Display of Gleitz books

An Annual Celebration

Courtesy Jon Seaman

CITY OR BOSTON

The South End was well represented by residents Shanna Pires, Curtis Jiles, and their son Jaidah, 5, at the 57th Annual Tree Lighting on Boston Common on November 29. The celebration was presented by Mayor Martin J. Walsh and the Honourable Karen Casey, Deputy Premier of Nova Scotia, the Boston Parks and Recreation Department, the Province of Nova Scotia, Juniper sponsor JetBlue, and presenting sponsor ExxonMobil. The Coca-Cola Company, and Bank of America with additional support from WCVB Channel 5, Magic 106.7 FM, and the Boston Globe.

The holiday decorations throughout Boston Common and the Public Garden included the City of Boston’s official 2018 Christmas tree, a 46-foot white spruce tree donated by Ross McKeever and Teresa Simpson from Oxford, Nova Scotia.

A Caroling We Go

By Michele D. Maniscalco

About 25 people gathered on the cold, clear afternoon of Sunday, December 9 in James Hayes Park at the corner of West Canton Street and Warren Avenue for the Friends of Hayes Park’s Caroling party. The Friends group provided songbooks, homemade cookies and other sweets and hot cider, and neighbors of all ages sang Christmas carols and holiday tunes.

More Photos on page 5

Continued on page 4

Twelfth Night

By Jules Becker

Imagination. FPAC, committed to supporting local talent of color, is making a very welcome debut

Homes, salon damaged but residents safe in Columbus Avenue fire

By Michele D. Maniscalco

On Tuesday, December 11, a two-alarm fire at 354 Columbus Avenue displaced 29 residents and caused about $750,000 in damage, according to Boston Fire Department (BFD) spokesperson Marc Sauders. The building, which has 15 residential units and the Cho Cho

Continued on page 3

Photo credit: Boston Fire Department/Twitter

Check us out online at www.mysouthend.com

twitter.com/SouthEndNews
facebook.com/SouthEndNews
Guest Opinion

Reducing disposable bags in Boston

By Boston Mayor Martin J. Walsh

The City of Boston’s new plastic bag ordinance is a big step forward in our work to cut carbon emissions, reduce pollution, and create a cleaner, greener city. When the new ordinance goes into effect on December 14, 2018, stores in Boston will no longer provide plastic checkout bags to customers. Ahead of the change, we’re working with our merchants to inform them about the new rules, and we’re encouraging everyone to switch over to reusables.

Here’s why we’re encouraging everyone to switch to reusable bags:
- An opportunity to be good environmental stewards and responsible neighbors.
- Single-use plastic bags have a big impact on our environment. Plastic bags often end up in our streets and gutters, vacant lots, and trees. They’re harmful to our marine life and pollute our waterways. You can use reusable bags time and time again without tossing them in the trash, which helps to reduce waste and carbon pollution.
- As a city committed to being carbon free and moving toward zero waste, this is a big step in the right direction.

So, how will you carry your groceries home? Moving forward, stores will provide reusable paper, compostable, or reusables bags to customers, starting at 5 cents per bag. This charge goes back to the businesses to help them cover the cost of new sustainable checkout bags. As a customer, you can avoid the charge by remembering to bring a reusable bag whenever you shop. Businesses will be able to use their existing inventory of plastic bags by applying for an exemption to the City’s Inspectional Services Department.

Switching to reusable bags is an important step toward a cleaner, greener city. We appreciate the support of our merchants and hope that everyone will do their part to reduce waste and protect our environment.

Library

Continued from page 1

was without one for almost a decade before the partnership.

The Blackstone Library is open to students five days a week. With close to 12,000 well-organized volumes on the shelves, an online database of these books, regular author visits, a subscription to the weekly newspaper EBRSCO, and a library, we have space, the Blackstone is one of the premier elementary school libraries in Boston Public Schools. This is all thanks to a team of dedicated volunteers and resources raised outside of the school’s regular budget.

Library volunteers, who are neighborhood
residents and members of suburban Episcopal churches, welcome two-thirds of the school’s classrooms (23 of 33) for weekly visits to the library for read-alouds and book-borrowing. Adults work hard to get to know each young person in grades K to 5, helping students find the “just-right” book to read independently.

In October, young readers at the school met Newbery Honor-winning author Adam Gidwitz. This and other author visits to the Blackstone School have been made possible
because of SSYP’s partnership with Wonder-
more, Inc., a Boston-based non-profit agency
that cultivates children’s curiosity, creativity,
and academic achievement by igniting a love of good books.”

During his time at the school, Gidwitz
presented his new series, The Invention Spreadsheet Society, and shared insights into the writing process with an enthusiastic audience
of third graders. Thanks to the generosity of Wondermore and Gidwitz, each student took home a copy of the first book in the series.

In November Blackstone Library volunteers led activities at the Blackstone’s Family Library Night, an annual event that proves to be very popular with families in the neighborhood. More than forty students visited the library, bringing their friends and family members, to make bookmarks, pick up some readingrelated swag, and read stories to the library’s mascots, Clifford the Big Red Dog.

The library program relies on volunteers who keep their focus on supporting classroom
teachers and enriching the reading experience
for students.

If you are interested in learning more about volunteer opportunities in the library, please email the Blackstone-SSYP’s Library Coordinator, Tricia Harvey (triciaharvey@bostondeton.org) to arrange a visit or join the next orientation session.

Support for the Blackstone Library can also come through donations. During this festive season, please consider donating a book from the Blackstone-SSYP Wish List, found online at Porter Square Books. www.
portersquarebooks.com/wishlists/2018

Be sure to mention in the Order Comments section that you are ordering for Blackstone Library to receive a 10% discount.

Choose “Tax-Free Pick-up” as the delivery
option and Blackstone Volunteers will take
it from here.

Library

Continued from page 1

was without one for almost a decade before the partnership.

The Blackstone Library is open to students five days a week. With close to 12,000 well-organized volumes on the shelves, an online database of these books, regular author visits, a subscription to the weekly newspaper EBRSCO, and a library, we have
space, the Blackstone is one of the premier elementary school libraries in Boston Public Schools. This is all thanks to a team of dedicated volunteers and resources raised outside of the school’s regular budget.

Library volunteers, who are neighborhood
residents and members of suburban Episcopal churches, welcome two-thirds of the school’s classrooms (23 of 33) for weekly
visits to the library for read-alouds and book-borrowing. Adults work hard to get to know
each young person in grades K to 5, helping
students find the “just-right” book to read
independently.

In October, young readers at the school met Newbery Honor-winning author Adam Gidwitz. This and other author visits to the Blackstone School have been made possible
because of SSYP’s partnership with Wonder-
more, Inc., a Boston-based non-profit agency
that cultivates children’s curiosity, creativity,
and academic achievement by igniting a love of good books.”

During his time at the school, Gidwitz
presented his new series, The Invention Spreadsheet Society, and shared insights into the writing process with an enthusiastic audience
of third graders. Thanks to the generosity
of Wondermore and Gidwitz, each student took home a copy of the first book in the series.

In November Blackstone Library volunteers led activities at the Blackstone’s Family Library Night, an annual event that proves to be very popular with families in the neighborhood. More than forty students visited the library, bringing their friends and family members, to make bookmarks, pick up some readingrelated swag, and read stories to the library’s mascots, Clifford the Big Red Dog.

The library program relies on volunteers who keep their focus on supporting classroom
teachers and enriching the reading experience
for students.

If you are interested in learning more about volunteer opportunities in the library, please email the Blackstone-SSYP’s Library Coordinator, Tricia Harvey (triciaharvey@bostondeton.org) to arrange a visit or join the next
orientation session.

Support for the Blackstone Library can also come through donations. During this festive season, please consider donating a book from the Blackstone-SSYP Wish List, found online at Porter Square Books. www.
portersquarebooks.com/wishlists/2018

Be sure to mention in the Order Comments section that you are ordering for
Blackstone Library to receive a 10% discount.

Choose “Tax-Free Pick-up” as the delivery
option and Blackstone Volunteers will take
it from here.

Library

Continued from page 1

was without one for almost a decade before the partnership.

The Blackstone Library is open to students five days a week. With close to 12,000 well-organized volumes on the shelves, an online database of these books, regular author visits, a subscription to the weekly newspaper EBRSCO, and a library, we have
space, the Blackstone is one of the premier elementary
school libraries in Boston Public Schools. This is all thanks to a team of dedicated volunteers and resources raised outside of the school’s regular budget.

Library volunteers, who are neighborhood
residents and members of suburban Episcopal churches, welcome two-thirds of the school’s classrooms (23 of 33) for weekly
visits to the library for read-alouds and book-borrowing. Adults work hard to get to know
each young person in grades K to 5, helping
students find the “just-right” book to read
independently.

In October, young readers at the school met Newbery Honor-winning author Adam Gidwitz. This and other author visits to the Blackstone School have been made possible
because of SSYP’s partnership with Wonder-
more, Inc., a Boston-based non-profit agency
that cultivates children’s curiosity, creativity,
and academic achievement by igniting a love of good books.”

During his time at the school, Gidwitz
presented his new series, The Invention Spreadsheet Society, and shared insights into the writing process with an enthusiastic audience
of third graders. Thanks to the generosity
of Wondermore and Gidwitz, each student took home a copy of the first book in the series.

In November Blackstone Library volunteers led activities at the Blackstone’s Family Library Night, an annual event that proves to be very popular with families in the neighborhood. More than forty students visited the library, bringing their friends and family members, to make bookmarks, pick up some readingrelated swag, and read stories to the library’s mascots, Clifford the Big Red Dog.

The library program relies on volunteers who keep their focus on supporting classroom
teachers and enriching the reading experience
for students.

If you are interested in learning more about volunteer opportunities in the library, please email the Blackstone-SSYP’s Library Coordinator, Tricia Harvey (triciaharvey@bostondeton.org) to arrange a visit or join the next
orientation session.

Support for the Blackstone Library can also come through donations. During this festive season, please consider donating a book from the Blackstone-SSYP Wish List, found online at Porter Square Books. www.
portersquarebooks.com/wishlists/2018

Be sure to mention in the Order Comments section that you are ordering for
Blackstone Library to receive a 10% discount.

Choose “Tax-Free Pick-up” as the delivery
option and Blackstone Volunteers will take
it from here.
Tis The Season
Continued from page 1

Guest Opinion
Continued from page 2

Sharon Lyn Kelly

Sharon Lyn Kelly, 75, passed away on November 27, 2018 at the New England Medical Center (Tufts University) where she had been employed for 44 years as a registered nurse specializing in cancer treatment before her retirement. Sharon was born March 31, 1934 in Northampton, Massachusetts the daughter of Lani and Virginia Sargent Kelly. She was raised in Littleton, NH and was a graduate of Littleton High School. After graduating from Elliott Hospital School of Nursing in Keene, NH in 1954, Sharon moved to Boston to become an operating room nurse. She soon grew passionate about the fight against cancer and was among the first cancer nurse specialists. She attended conferences around the country and abroad to be trained in chemotherapy treatment. Her patients appreciated her kind, straight-forward encouragement to fight for each new day as scientist continued to make new discoveries.
Sharon’s yearbook goal to “see the world” was abundantly fulfilled as she traveled to South America, China, India, Africa, and beyond. Some of her favorite trips were to North Carolina beaches to camp with friends and to the Maine coast to spend many wonderful vacations with her family. She also enjoyed creating exquisite needlepoint projects.
Sharon loved living in Boston. Her feisty spirit, sense of adventure, forthright manner and love of life endeared her to all who knew her. She taught everyone to be their own best advocate. She was missed by her many good friends. She will be especially missed by her brothers, Conrad Kelly and wife, Susan and Paul Kelly and wife, Martha and their families who wish to express gratitude to the staff of Tufts for their care of Sharon. There will be no funeral service; however, memorial contributions to cancer/diabetes research or animal shelters are ideas for memorials.

Fire
Continued from page 1

The beauty salon on the ground floor, was occupied when the fire broke out.
Two firemen entered the structure after spotting the flames, but all occupants and pets were evacuated safely. The fire was located primarily in the back of the building. The fire was called in at 2:40 PM by a passerby, the liquor store at the corner of the building between Niantic and Ladder 3 from the Commonwealth Avenue Firehouse the first to arrive.

CONTRACTORS WERE WORKING ON THE EXTERIOR of the building, and the Fire Investigator Unit questioned workers on the scene as well as building residents, who gave the exact amount of time the fire was uncovered. At approximately 2:50 PM, a Public Works Department crew arrived and added the street, which had an over-water for water from the fire box. South End/ Evanston Avenue is on the corner of the Office of Neighborhood Services, which along with the Red Cross, Victim Assistance, Fire and the Red Cross will be helping residents of the building find lodging and other resources.

Get local and advertise your property in the South End News.

Call Jeff at (617) 464-7280 ext. 202 or email: sales@southendnews.com.
Advice on Pets, Life, Love

BY MONICA COLLINS

Hello dear readers, happy holidays! There is nothing like dog company during the Christmas season when things are bolly and jolly. In the South East, the Polka Dog Bakery is a must-see destination for all dog lovers. It’s a fantastic place to take your four-legged friend to enjoy the festive season.

In celebration of the season and our dog darlings, Dog Lady thought it might be fun to reprint some of her favorite questions—and wise answers—that have appeared in this column throughout the year. All the questions—and the wise answers—are guaranteed to be real.

Dear Dog Lady,

As the holiday season and being in a festive mood thought of a dog to Max (a 75-pound poodle) a mix of a retriever and setter. His coloring is such that he truly looks like a mixed breed with tons on, but no mention to that fact he loves adorably funny. We got him at the pet store the other day and I made him walk home with them on. He did a great job of listening then on the short walk home and didn’t try to take them off. When we got home, however, he gave me a look that said, ‘You owe me.’ My question: Do I owe him?

— Brian

Dear Brian,

Your dog sounds like a sweeter—as if he’d do anything to please you. Dog Lady has a warm-fuzzy feeling from reading your note. You don’t need the answer to that because you’re reminded of his devotion. At the very least, you owe Max a meaty treat, a tender ham and, a long, long, long-lasting – sans funny headgear.

Dear Dog Lady,

Do I get my girlfriend a pug puppy for Christmas? I’ve tried pugs in couples of months ago but a month after we started going. She has been really down ever since. I hope a new dog will cheer her up and make her feel good about us. She says that she really wants a dog but it isn’t ready yet. I found the puppy online and put down a deposit.

— Billy

Dear Billy,

Please understand you can’t choose a dog like a staffed animal in order to get affection. Animal activists discourage puppy purchasing — among the reasons giving the dog is prepared to assure all responsibility. Animal advocates are filed with cast-off puppies in January because, after the hassle of the holidays fades, living dogs require repair. They need to be fed, walked and nurtured.

Theater

Continued from page 1

with Arts Emerson artist in residence Daniel Brown and composer (Ronald Hayes (1897-1977)).

What makes the moving Lyric Stage Company of Boston presentation especially auspicious is the opportunity it provides the artistic production especially auspicious is the opportunity it provides the musical activity of Boston American-African-Performers Davon Moore to create a full justice to the art and life of his great predecessor.

Hayes’ chamber music is a tale of many cities. While he hailed from Georgia and moved (at the age of 13) with his brother Angel Moore to Tennessee after the death of his father, he also lived in Brookline, performed in Boston and gave concerts before kings and queens.

That trajectory had as much to do with his refusal to be artistically denied in the face of racism (including) as his unusual and natural talent. Beatty’s dense 90-minute effort makes generous use of Hayes’ classical and black spiritual repertoire in demonstrating both the range of music and its indispensable spirit.

Set during 1887-1942 at Angel Moore’s farm in the “Shadows of a Negro settlement in Georgia,” this informative work goes all the way back to the tenor’s enchantment as a youth with a scratchy baritone recording and his memories of singing scales and musical exercises. Look for Schumann concert lieder and African-American spirituals all sung with vibrant tone by Moore.

On the plaintive Donizetti aria “Una donna amor che non vive” from La finta giardiniera, both the tenor and soprano with Angel Moore, played with the tenor and soprano with attention to the music as Moore colaborador in the recording. Premier local actor Marc Emmanual Parent (two tenors and three BSO awards), in a terrific professional and directorial debut, sharply captures all of Hayes’ moments of frustration and anger as well as his gratifying musical and personal success. After Denham’s musical direction is equally stunning.

At one point, Hayes is justly called an “extraordinary artist.” Moore as “Breathe and Imagination” deserves the same high praise.

Moore’s Productions has brought very fresh approaches to such musicals as “The Wild Party” and “Cabaret” (the latter a hauntingly powerful revival). Now they are trying to do the same with Shakespeare’s seminal comedy “Twelfth Night” at Boston Center for the Arts Plaza Theatre. To that end, Evan Timarino actually sings the beginning of Duke Orsino’s famous “If music be the food of love” initial speech, and sheets of metal achieve the sound of the pivotal opening storm. Thanks to a top-notch performance by gifted Matthew Zahnrieger (“A Midsummer Night’s Dream” and “The Thirty-Nine Steps among others”), Malvolio’s admonition of Olivia and his diaphonous and lyrical job by John McFarland and his entourage achieve both pathos and humor.

If director Allison Oslin Coots does not fully push the proverbial envelope in other ways, her generally satisfying cast does make savory fare of this play’s always intriguing combination of sibling reunion and ambiguous relationships—with Orsino attracted to Viola (Viola of course is disguise) and Antonio’s very bittersweet feeling for Viola’s twin brother Sebastian. Evan Timarino and Charlotte Kendrick—properly vulnerable though quick-witted as Viola/Cecilia—have good chemistry. Sarah Gaudioso as Olivia has the right subdued demeanor as a widow attracted to Cesario and convincing authority with her household. Zahnrieger is a scene stealing hoot as Malvolio sports yellow stockings and arrives cross-gartered thinking he will please Olivia. Arthur Gomez displays appealing comic ease and sings with panache as Feste the Jester.

“Twelfth Night” could do with more risk-taking, but a spirited cast keeps it safely off the rocks.

Ah, your girl might also feel cornered by such a grandly personal gift—ever if she instantly fell in love with the dog. It would be as if you gave her a diamond ring with no plans to marry. She will feel bewildered by your expectations—or lack thereof. You must also give romantic gifts in tune with the emotional tenor of the relationship.

Dear Dog Lady,

I want my dog to have a wonderful Christmas present but I have no extra income. I can barely afford to buy food for Oscar (he’s a mix of everything) so I don’t want to spend money on treats or toys. What do you recommend?

— Ray

Dear Ray,

Hearken back to the legend of a story about a servant boy in a stable near Bethlehem and were peaceful. Let Oscar live in peace. Never yell at him. Show him respect. Just because he’s dog doesn’t mean you should treat him like a dog. You are his leader not his dictator.

Always remember Oscar enjoys being where you are. Walking with you is your dog’s greatest pleasure. Your pet does not care where you work, how much money you make, what treat you give him every day. He lives for this. On this holiday, Oscar’s joy is the greatest present he gives you. You can give him an extra scratch behind the ear, a bully stick, and a murmured “goodboy” for remembrance.

Write askdoglady@gmail.com.
10th Annual Shop with a Cop Event Held at Target in South Bay

On Monday, December 19, 2016, members of the Boston Police Department enjoyed participating in the 10th Annual "Shop with a Cop" event held at Target Stores in Dorchester. Officers from districts across the city along with volunteers from several local police and first-responder agencies paired up with over three hundred deserving children from our neighborhood in Boston to pick out a special holiday gift. The event was hosted by Mayor Walsh and Commissioner Gross and generously funded by the Boston Police Athletic Association, Target, and several other charitable organizations. Our officers enjoyed spending their time at Target, bringing a little holiday magic to these grateful children and their families during this season of giving.

Debbie Cavalier
Carol-Ann Online, Berklee College of Music
Master of Education

Cambridge College
Where you come to be.

Start now
1.800/289.4723
CambridgeCollege.edu

Free Personal
Community Bank
Simply Convenient
 Rapid ATM
Mobile Check Deposit
e-Statements People Pay Online Banking Easy

Free checking account and you'll receive:
• No minimum balance required
• No monthly fee
• No monthly service charge
• Free access to Allpoint® ATM network
• Free instant issue ATM/Visa® check card
• Free introductory supply of welcome checks

Plus, get your FREE gift when you open any new checking account!

800.657.3272
EastBostonSavingsBank.com

Photos courtesy of addisatem.com
Discussing Homelessness

Submitted by Wilder Strategies

Rev. Liz Walker, Roxbury Presbyterian Church; Jamila Bradley, Educator and Youth homelessness prevention advocate; Chris Gardner, Author, portrayed by actor Will Smith in the movie "Pursuit of Happyness" engage in a discussion on preventing youth homelessness at Liberty Mutual Insurance in Boston on Thursday, December 6. Liberty Mutual focuses its philanthropic giving in areas that affect the region’s most vulnerable communities, particularly youth who are experiencing homelessness or housing instability.

Rev. Liz Walker, Roxbury Presbyterian Church; Jamila Bradley, Educator and Youth homelessness prevention advocate; Chris Gardner, Author

Follow South End News on Twitter

Your Neighborhood.

Your Website.

Join us for a community conversation and update on the construction and future plans of Villa Victoria Center for the Arts.

Monday, December 17 • 2018 • 6pm
BCYF Blackstone Community Center Auditorium 2nd Floor
50 West Brookline Street, Boston, MA 02118

Get local and advertise your property in the South End News.

Call Jeff at (617) 464-7280 ext. 202 or email: sales@southendnews.com.
SERVICE GUIDE

PLUMBING • HEATING • HVAC

S.G. Harold
Plumbing, Heating & AC
Specializing in Viessman Boiler
Home Heating Repairs & Service
Unico Air Conditioning • Radiant Floor Heating

Boston 617-696-2400
Unprecedented Service Tailored To You
MA Lic #10589

ROOFING

McDonnell Roofing Co.
Roofing Specialist
Fully Insured
Slate and Copper Work • Rubber Roof Systems
Shingles and Gutters • Repairs • Lic. Contractor Reg. #100 00
617-288-3448
Free Estimates • Over 40 years of experience
McDonnellRoofingBoston.com

MASONRY

P. Stones Contracting, Inc.
Specializing in Historic Restoration, Brick Repointing, Brick, Block, Stone, Basement Floors, Caulking & Waterproofing.
Ornamental window sills, window headers and moldings. Fully licensed and insured. 15 years of satisfied customers and referrals.
Office: 781-848-6922 • Fax: 781-848-6923
Cell: 617-592-0850 • pstonescontracting@hotmail.com

CLEANING

Spring Cleaning
For All Seasons

• Trustworthy cleaning services to meet your needs
• Houses, apartments and commercial
• Schedule that works best for you, weekly, bi-weekly, or monthly
• All routine housework, plus special clean-up jobs
• Owner supervised cleaning crew and assures quality
• Excellent references and competitive rates

Cleaning by Judy
617-501-9645

CONSTRUCTION • GENERAL • REMODELING

The Dependable Handyperson

FINE PAINTING AND REFINISHING
SMALL REPAIRS AND RENOVATIONS
DECK AND GARDEN WORK

Call Jean at 617-236-1795
dependablehandy@aol.com

ELECTRICAL

D’S ELECTRIC

Providing quality electrical services to the Boston area
Residential & Commercial Fire Erecting
24-Hour Service
Permit Issued Under State License 1103307 617.542.2000
www.ds-electric.com
Mass License #141594

DESIGN

Letters Policy
The South End News welcomes letters to the editor. All letters must be signed and accompanied by a mailing address and phone number.

e-mail: letters@southendnews.com | fax: 617.464.7286

BRUNO GUERRIERO CONSTRUCTION, INC.
Water Proofing Solutions
Basements • Facades • Chimneys

COMPLETE MASON CONTRACTOR
Custom Brick, Stone Work
& Brick Pavers
ALL TYPES OF REPAIRS
AND RESTORATIONS

Brownstone Repair • Stairs Restored • Sea Walls • Storm Damage
BrunoGuerrieroConstruction.com • Bruno5world@comcast.net

Can’t wait
until Thursday
for the next issue of the South End
News!

Head over to southeendnews.com

Can’t wait
until Thursday
for the next issue of the South End
News!
8 of Boston’s Best Restaurants
1 Perfect Card

FREE $20 Meal Certificate with every $100 in gift cards purchased*

*promo ends 12/31/18, meal certificates valid 1/1/19 through 3/31/19

WWW.AQUITAINEGROUP.COM
Metropolis • Aquitaine Boston • Aquitaine Chestnut Hill
Aquitaine Dedham • Cinquecento • Gaslight Boston
Gaslight Lynnfield • Gaslight Cafe